Thanks again to everyone for putting up with the general craziness around here while we are working on finalizing everything with the new version of The Koopatorivm. I'd like to ask that you bear with us as we move the artwork from the old galleries into the new ones. There are over 1000 artwork files that need to be placed, but little by little we are starting to get everything back in order. Brand new artwork is coming, so keep watching the galleries for new updates!
